

R.V.R. & J.C. COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

Examination Rules and Regulations

Academic Year: 2026–2027

Document ID: RVRJC-EXM-002

Version: 2.1

Effective Date: 01 July 2026

Policy Owner: Office of the Controller of Examinations

1. Purpose

These regulations govern semester examinations, supplementary examinations, internal assessments, examination registration, evaluation, malpractice, and result publication.

2. Types of Examinations

The College conducts Continuous Internal Assessment, Mid-Semester Examination, End-Semester Examination, Practical/Laboratory Examination, Supplementary Examination, and Project Evaluation.

3. Examination Eligibility

A student is eligible for an end-semester examination when the student is officially registered for the course, satisfies the minimum attendance requirement, completes required internal assessment components, pays applicable examination fees, and has no examination-related administrative restriction. Students who do not satisfy attendance requirements may be prevented from appearing.

4. Examination Registration

Students must register within the announced period. The process normally includes logging into the student portal, selecting eligible courses, verifying details, paying examination fees, submitting registration, and verifying the hall ticket. Late registration requires approval from the Controller of Examinations.

5. Hall Ticket

Students must carry a valid examination hall ticket and College identification card. Students without valid identification may be denied entry unless authorized.

6. Examination Hall Rules

Students must report at least 20 minutes before the scheduled start. Students must sit in assigned seats, follow staff instructions, maintain silence, carry only permitted materials, and submit answer scripts before leaving. Mobile phones, smart watches, unauthorized notes, programmable devices, and communication equipment are prohibited unless explicitly permitted.

7. Late Arrival

Students arriving after the examination starts may be admitted subject to regulations. Arrival more than 30 minutes late normally requires special authorization. Additional time is not automatically provided.

8. Examination Duration

The normal duration of an end-semester theory examination is three hours. Practical examinations may have different durations.

9. Internal Assessment

Internal assessment may include class tests, assignments, quizzes, presentations, laboratory performance, projects, and other approved academic activities.

10. Malpractice

Malpractice includes possessing unauthorized notes, using electronic communication devices, copying, allowing copying, impersonation, unauthorized communication, and removing examination materials. Suspected cases are referred to the Examination Discipline Committee. Penalties may include cancellation, withholding of results, suspension, or other disciplinary action.

11. Evaluation

Answer scripts are evaluated according to approved academic standards. Multiple evaluators or moderation may be used for selected courses.

12. Results

Results are published through the official student portal and normally include course grades, credits earned, SGPA, CGPA, and failed or incomplete courses.

13. Revaluation

Students may apply for revaluation where eligible, normally within five working days of result publication. A prescribed fee may apply.

14. Supplementary Examination

Students who fail eligible courses may be permitted to appear for supplementary examinations. Separate registration is required.

15. Absence Due to Emergency

Students unable to attend an examination because of a documented emergency must inform the examination office as soon as possible. Supporting documents may be required.

16. Examination Grievances

Grievances should first be submitted to the Controller of Examinations and should include student name, student ID, course code, examination date, issue description, and supporting documents.